

RED CROSS SUPPLIES WANTED

Summoned by Mrs. Nell Smith chairman of the Torrance branch American Red Cross, 150 local residents gathered at the municipal auditorium last evening to receive instructions on the part of the Red Cross.

However, Mrs. Rose Connolly, Red Cross coordinator for this district led a discussion of activities now under way and explained the greater need for increased work because of the actual declaration of war.

First aid classes will be held at the city hall from 7 to 10 o'clock each Monday and Wednesday evenings. A new class in advanced first aid will begin tonight (Thursday). Enlistment in these classes were urged.

A war relief drive to raise $1,500,000 in the Los Angeles area will be started soon, Mrs. Connolly announced. It was originally decided to defer this campaign until April, but it will be necessary to start the drive soon because of the greater needs of the war, she said.

Use Caution and Your Head, Judge Advises, in Blackout

By JUDGE JOHN SHIDLER
Law enforcement during the next few weeks presents a problem which every citizen must help solve by his active cooperation.

The blackout demands immediate attention. The aspects of its problem divide into two groups: traffic and theft-type crimes.

Pedestrian deaths will increase. People will not see motor vehicles and drivers will not see people on the streets, without lights. Therefore, keep your family at home during blackouts.

Do not park your car on the street at night, particularly on the narrower streets. Drivers will run into many parked cars, it is to be expected.

Look Up and Stay Sober
Citizens will prevent accidents if they drive at a low rate of speed, it goes without saying, and will minimize their injuries when the collision does occur. Of course, they will not drive at all unless it is absolutely necessary, during a blackout.

If citizens will keep their garages closed, their doors locked and their property in their homes, thefts should not increase greatly. However, these crimes flourish in darkness and it is to be expected that they will now increase.

Science Bldg. Repairs Will Cost $53,500

Plans for reconstruction of the exterior walls of the science and home economics building at Torrance high school are progressing rapidly in the office of A. S. Nibecker, Jr., architect for the Los Angeles board of education, it was learned this week. Cost of the work is estimated at $42,500. About four inches of brick will be removed and gunite applied, which when tied together with light reinforcing steel will make an exceedingly strong wall.

A private architect is being employed to prepare plans for reconstruction of the main building, and the brick exterior walls will be removed and gunite applied here also. Architect William Mellem, Los Angeles, has been commissioned to do the work, which will cost an estimated $53,500.

State Job Bureau Will Locate At Health Center

Leasing of the second floor of the Torrance Health center on Carson St. to the state department of employment was approved this week by the board of supervisors.

The state office moved into the building when its former quarters were damaged by the recent earthquake. The county has no use for the second floor of the health center at this time, according to Hugh Lawrence, director of lands and leases for the county.

Rental of $90 a month, including light, heat and water, will be obtained by the county for the quarters.

Word has been received by Dr. K. F. Slekman of the death at Pearl Harbor Sunday of a close family friend, Pvt. First Class John G. Mitchell, Air Corps, of Holsington, Kansas.

seize upon a crisis, such as we are now facing, as an opportunity for getting drunk. If such persons drive motor vehicles during a blackout they will be dealt with severely. Our national emergency demands sobriety and a drunken patriot is not a patriot.

Think Before You Act
Your governments are doing terrific jobs of organization at this time for Civilian Defense. Many citizens will take part in this most necessary activity. However, let it be here noted, citizens do not have the right to disobey law just because they are patriotically serving their country.

Hysteria and panic have been the strength of fifth columns. There is no need as yet for our citizenry to be armed, particularly with concealed weapons. Yet many well meaning citizens are carrying guns and it is to be expected that accidental deaths from gunshot will increase. Civilian Defense will be for the most part hard work, with little heroics, and those who carry fear rumors or invent them will aid the Axis.

Until we are notified of changes of regulations we must all think before we act. Things we used to do by habit before war, we must now learn to do in a different way. We must plan our entertainment differently and use less light. We must plan our work so that if possible it will be done when night falls. We must learn not to be frantic when news broadcasts cease. We must adapt ourselves to a new living, and we must do it quickly. England, a country of much older habits and traditions has given us the successful pattern.
